INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT

To the Board of Directors of Ferian Re Ltd.

Opinion

We have audited the financial statements of Ferian Re Ltd. (the "Company"), which comprise the balance sheet as of December 31, 2022, and the related statements of income & comprehensive loss, changes in shareholder's equity, and cash flow, from May 19, 2022 (inception) to December 31, 2022, and the related notes to the financial statements (collectively referred to as the "financial statements").

In our opinion, the accompanying financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Company as of December 31, 2022, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the period then ended in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America (GAAS). Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements section of our report. We are required to be independent of the Company and to meet our other ethical responsibilities, in accordance with the relevant ethical requirements relating to our audit. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Responsibilities of Management for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, and for the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, management is required to evaluate whether there are conditions or events, considered in the aggregate, that raise substantial doubt about the Company's ability to continue as a going concern for a period of one year after the date that the financial statements are issued.

Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion.

Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance but is not absolute assurance and therefore is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with GAAS will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control. Misstatements are considered material if there is a substantial likelihood that, individually or in the aggregate, they would influence the judgment made by a reasonable user based on the financial statements.

In performing an audit in accordance with GAAS, we:

- Exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit.
- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, and design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks. Such procedures include examining, on a test basis, evidence regarding the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control. Accordingly, no such opinion is expressed.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluate the overall presentation of the financial statements.
- Conclude whether, in our judgment, there are conditions or events, considered in the aggregate, that raise substantial doubt about the Company's ability to continue as a going concern for a reasonable period of time.

We are required to communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit, significant audit findings, and certain internal control-related matters that we identified during the audit.

Required Supplementary Information

Accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America require that the disclosure of short-duration contracts included in the note 9 of the financial statements be presented to supplement the basic financial statements. Such information is the responsibility of management and, although not part of the basic financial statements, is required by the Financial Accounting Standards Board who considers it to be an essential part of financial reporting for placing the basic financial statements in an appropriate operational, economic, or historical context. We have applied certain limited procedures to the required supplementary information in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America, which consisted of inquiries of management about the methods of preparing the information and comparing the information for consistency with management's responses to our inquiries, the basic financial statements, and other knowledge we obtained during our audit of the basic financial statements. We do not express an opinion or provide any assurance on the information because the limited procedures do not provide us with sufficient evidence to express an opinion or provide any assurance.

- Fair value of financial assets and liabilities
- Reserves for losses and loss adjustment expenses

Fixed Maturity Securities – Available for Sale, at fair value

Investments in fixed maturities securities are classified as available for sale and are reported at fair value.

Investment transactions are recorded on the trade date with balances pending settlement reflected in the balance sheet as a receivable for investments sold or a payable for investments purchased.

Net investment income includes interest income together with amortization of market premiums and discounts, investment management fees, and custodian fees. The amortization of premiums and accretion of discounts for fixed maturity securities is computed using the effective yield method.

Fair value of investments are based on quoted market prices, or when such prices are not available, by reference to custodian's bid indications and/or internal pricing valuation techniques.

The net unrealized appreciation or depreciation on fixed maturity securities is included in unrealized losses on investments through other comprehensive income.

Realized gains or losses on the sale of investments are determined on the basis of the first in first out cost method and are recognized within net investment income in the Statement of Income and Comprehensive Loss.

As December 31, 2022, the Company holds the following types of Fixed Maturity Securities:

- Asset Backed Securities ("ABS") – Financial securities backed by the cash flows of a pool of assets other than real estate. The most common types of ABS securities are those which are backed by credit card receivables, home equity loans, student loans, and auto loans.
- Collateralized Mortgage Obligations ("CMO") – Whole Loan CMOs are collateralized mortgage obligations that are too large to be issued or guaranteed by Ginnie Mae, Freddie Mac, or Fannie Mae. A whole loan CMO typically represents jumbo mortgages which exceed the limits for securitization by US government mortgage banks. The collateral for a whole loan CMO is a pool of un-securitized mortgage loans.
- Corporate Bonds ("CB") – CB are any debenture issued by corporation with longer maturities than commercial paper i.e., greater than 270 days. Both the debt and the issuer can be public or private. Corporate Bonds can be secured by assets or unsecured, although the latter is most common. For unsecured bonds, most corporations have a debt ranking structure that defines the priority of the debt relative to others in case of a default. The most common structure is a fixed rate coupon paying bond with a specific maturity. However, there are a robust number of features that corporate bonds can have, such as floating coupon rates, optionality, sinking funds, and a variety of others
- Municipal Debt – A debt security issued by a US state, municipality or county to finance its capital expenditures. Municipal bonds tend to have a fixed coupon, a maturity ranging from 5 to 30 years, and can have a variety of early retirement provisions.

Fixed Maturity Securities – Available for Sale, at fair value *(continued)

- Non-Agency CMBS – Senior tranches of mortgage backed securities that are secured by loans on commercial and multifamily properties. Examples of commercial and multifamily properties include apartment buildings, retail or office properties, hotels, and schools.
- US Agency Debt – These are unsecured long term debt instruments. However, these are not issued directly by a national governments, but rather "Agencies" for the government that carry an implicit government guarantee. An entity is considered an Agency if it is guaranteed, owned, or sponsored by the national government, however, the type of relationship is of important note.
- US Treasury Notes – Debt issued by the US government, with maturities generally ranging between 2 and 30 years, fall into this category. The debt is unsecured and is considered a general obligation to the nation's treasury. As the US government has the power to tax and print fiat money, they are considered to be credit risk free instruments.

Fair Value of Financial Instruments

The fair value of the Company's assets and liabilities, which qualify as financial instruments under Financial Accounting Standards Board ("FASB") Accounting Standards Codification ("ASC") No. 825, Financial Instruments, approximates the carrying amounts presented in the financial statements.

Fair value estimates are made at a specific point in time, based on market conditions and information about the financial instrument. These estimates are subjective in nature and involve uncertainties and matters of significant judgment and, therefore, cannot be determined with precision. Changes in assumptions could significantly affect the estimates.

Assumed Written Premiums

Assumed written premiums are earned on a pro rata basis over the terms of the policies, which are generally 12 months. The portion of premiums assumed applicable to the unexpired terms of the policies in force is recorded as unearned premiums.

Unearned Premiums

Unearned Premiums represent the portion of premiums written that relate to the unexpired terms of policies in force.

Deferred Acquisition Costs

Costs which are incrementally or directly related to the successful acquisition of new or renewal insurance business are deferred. These deferred costs are primarily ceding commissions paid to the Cedent. Amortization of such policy acquisition costs is charged to expense in proportion to premium earned over the estimated policy life. To the extent that unearned premiums on existing policies are not adequate to cover projected related costs and expenses, deferred policy acquisition costs are charged to earnings.

Losses and Loss Adjustment Expenses

The reserves for losses and loss adjustment expenses represents estimates for known claims and estimates of Incurred-But-Not-Reported (“IBNR”) losses and loss adjustment expenses (“LAE”). These reserves are established by an expected loss ratio method developed during due diligence and pricing of the original treaty, based on both the cedants historical results and industry results. It should be recognized that all such estimates of ultimate losses and allocated loss adjustment expenses, and of resulting reserves, are subject to inherent variability caused by the nature of the insurance process. Such variability is increased for the Company due to limited historical experience. As a result, the net amounts that will ultimately be paid to settle the liability may vary significantly in the near term from the estimated amounts provided for in the balance sheets.

The reserves for losses and loss adjustment expenses include the unpaid accumulation of case estimates for losses reported, estimates for losses incurred but not reported, and estimates of expenses for investigating and adjusting incurred losses. The Company does not discount loss and loss adjustment expenses reserves.

The estimates are continually reviewed and adjusted, as necessary, as experience develops or new information becomes known; such adjustments are included in current operations. Reserves for Losses and loss adjustment expenses represent management’s best estimate of the ultimate net cost of all reported and unreported losses incurred through to December 31, 2022.

Although management believes that the reserves for loss and loss adjustment expenses is reasonable, it is possible that the Company’s actual incurred losses and loss adjustment expenses will not develop in a manner consistent with the assumptions inherent in the determination of these reserves. Specifically, the Company’s actual ultimate loss ratio could differ from management’s initial expected loss ratio and/or the Company’s actual reporting patterns for losses could differ from the expected reporting patterns. Accordingly, the ultimate settlement of losses and the related loss adjustment expenses may vary significantly from the estimates included in the Company’s financial statements. These estimates are reviewed regularly by management and are adjusted as necessary as experience develops or new information becomes known; such adjustments are included in current operations.

Recent Accounting Pronouncements – Recently Issued but not yet Adopted

ASU 2016-13 – Measurement of Credit Losses on Financial Instruments (“ASU 2016-13”)

The FASB issued ASU 2016-13 in June 2016, which requires loans, receivables and available-for-sale debt securities to record credit losses through an allowance for credit losses account. The update introduces a new impairment model, known as the current expected credit loss model, which is based on expected losses rather incurred losses. Under the new credit loss model, the Company will be required to recognize an allowance for its expected credit losses on certain financial assets including trade receivables, debt instruments not measured at fair value, and reinsurance receivable. Available for sale debt securities will record credit losses through an allowance for credit losses, which will be limited to the amount by which the fair value is below amortized cost. The Company is currently assessing the impact of the standard on the financial statements. The standard update is effective for annual periods beginning after December 15, 2022.

ASU 2018-12 – Financial Services – Insurance (“ASU 2018-12”)

The FASB Issued ASU 2018-12 in August 2018. ASU 2018-12 amends the scope of Topic 944 via improvements to the accounting for long-duration contracts. The standard update is effective for annual periods beginning after December 15, 2024. The company does not expect ASU 2018-12 to have a material impact on the Company’s financial statements.
